Experts Recommend Full-time Drug Director

Four recommendations for handling Princeton's drug problem have been made by a pair of drug abuse consultants who met June 22 with leaders of various programs.

Princeton's Intergovernmental Drug Committee basically agrees with the recommendations, according to IDC's chairman, the Rev. George Fitzgerald. Indeed, some were already under consideration before the drug consultants met, Mr. Fitzgerald revealed. He pointed out that because the consultants — Dr. John C. Ball and Dr. Frederick B. Glaser — were only in Princeton for one day, they didn't have a chance to confer with everyone and missed both the Institute for Applied Psychotherapy and the Committee of 13.

The consultants recommend:

- A full-time professional director to supervise all activities related to drug abuse in the Princeton area.

- Including Princeton immediately in Mercer County's drug planning.

- A single, unified program, combining existing programs as efficiently as possible.

- Centering the program in the community as a whole, and not in the Princeton Medical Center.

New Director. A full-time professional director has already been selected, Mr. Fitzgerald said, and formal announcement will be made next Monday at Township Committee's 8 p.m. meeting. A budget will be presented at the same time.

Princeton's IDC is already trying to tie in with Mercer County's program, he continued. (Mr. Fitzgerald is IDC's liaison with the County.) Mercer County's Department of Mental Health is drawing up a proposal which will be submitted to the National Institute of Mental Health, a proposal rumored to be in the millions of dollars, Mr. Fitzgerald said, although the whole plan has not yet been pulled together. Deadline for application is August 1.

County's Role The county's program would involve an intake and - Evaluation Center

("I. and E.") a Daytop treatment facility and a possible interchange of workers who would come to Princeton's center to provide therapy.

The Princeton community's own "I. and E." center will be the house on the corner of Henry Avenue and Witherspoon that is being made available at no cost by the Princeton Medical Center. Opening date for the new center and the design of its program will be decided by the new full-time director, Mr. Fitzgerald said.

At present, Mercer County's drug program is based on methadone maintenance. The patient goes to Mercer Hospital for de-toxification, with follow-up at the Princeton Medical Center. Four people are now on this program, according to Mr. Fitzgerald.

Unified Programs. Turning to Princeton's varied and varying programs, the two consultants wrote in their report that "A large number of small programs which are continually in conflict with each other over policies, patients, funding sources, professional advice and opinion, are simply not to be tolerated."

The doctors concede that "resistance" and even "anguish" may ensue from any attempt to set up unified programs, but the results would more than justify the difficulties, they said.

Specifically, Mr. Fitzgerald explained that an IDC-administered Institute for Applied Psychotherapy will be part of the unified and co-ordinated effort.

The new "I. and E." center will refer people to IAP, and vice versa. The Committee of 13 — a loosely-organized group of professionals in various fields who have concerns about drugs — may not continue to exist formally, but the new director and the IDC will continue to work closely with the 13 individuals who constitute that Committee.

Hospital Part. So far as the Princeton Medical Center is concerned, the two consultants believe the major direction should come from outside the Center.

"Some access to in-hospital de-toxification will certainly be necessary (but) the admission of large numbers of persons with this problem to existing hospital facilities should NOT be contemplated."

At present, the Princeton Medical Center is designing its own drug program, which may include de-toxification, Mr. Fitzgerald said. (The hospital's methadone program is a medical co-ordination problem at the moment, he explained. Dr. David Atkin, of the Princeton Drug Committee, is working toward a solution.)

As Mr. Fitzgerald sees it, drug treatment might have this perspective:

- People with a minimum involvement would be at the Institute for Applied Psychotherapy, 291 Witherspoon Street.

- Experimenters who had more involvement would be handled at the I. and E. center.

- Heavy drug users would receive psychiatric and/or physical treatment at the Princeton Medical Center.

CAR ACCIDENT FATAL
To Princeton Man. Thomas J. Petruccione, 22, of Journey's End Lane, died early Tuesday morning in Princeton Medical Center from injuries suffered six hours earlier in an automobile accident on South Harrison Street.

Mr. Petruccione was a passenger in a car driven by Charles R. Zufah, 23, 168 West Avenue, Trenton. West Windsor police said that the car ran off the road just east of the bridge over the Delaware and Raritan Canal. The accident occurred at 11:50 p.m. Monday.

Mr. Petruccione was taken to the Medical Center in critical condition. He died at 6:15 a.m.

A second passenger, Michael Pilenza, 24, of 305 Hamilton Avenue, suffered a concussion and was admitted for observation. The driver and another passenger, Joseph E. Sweeney, 22, of Arlington, Va., were treated for cuts and bruises and released.

Patrolman Edward Davis is investigating the accident.

Born in Camden and a resident of Lawrence Township for a number of years, Mr. Petruccione had lived here for the past 12 months. He was a graduate of St. Paul's School Princeton, and Notre Dame High School, and held a bachelor of arts degree from Fordham University as a member of the Class of 1971.

Partial Solar Eclipse Here Monday

A partial eclipse of the sun, reaching just short of 80% of totality in this area, will be visible here Monday afternoon. In view of near-record precipitation totals for 1972, it is best to add—weather permitting.

The eclipse, which occurs when the moon comes between the earth and the sun, will begin at 3:32 p.m. Its maximum will be reached an hour and ten minutes later — at 4:42 — and it will end at 5:45.

Early during the phenomenon, the sun will be encircled by what looks like a diamond ring. This is followed by the appearance of "Bailey's Beads," caused by the sun's rays filtering through the valleys at the end of the moon.

Viewers are cautioned not to look directly at the sun—even with the protection of optical devices or improvised filters. Permanent eye damage can result.

Indirect viewing methods generally approved include watching the sun's reflection in a pool of water; standing with one's back to the sun and projecting its image through a card with a half-inch diameter into a screen about ten feet away; or pointing the large end of binoculars or a telescope at the sun and focusing the solar image on a sheet of white cloth or paper held a foot or two from the instrument's eye piece.

A direct viewer that will afford proper protection can be made with two layers of metallic silver, black and white (not color) photographic film that has been completely exposed and developed. Tinted glasses, binoculars and telescopes used for direct viewing are considered unsafe.

Cooperation from the weather for Monday's eclipse is essential for most of us hoping to watch it. The next solar eclipse visible from the eastern seaboard is scheduled for April 8, 2024.

FARE INCREASE SOUGHT
Penn Central Sets Hearing. The Department of Transportation will reopen the public hearings on a 10 percent fare increase for the Penn Central Transportation Company next Wednesday, July 12.

The hearing will start at 10 a.m. in room 314, Civil Service Hearing Room No. 1, in the State Office Building, 1100 Raymond Boulevard, Newark, to hear further evidence concerning the operation of the "200 series" trains which operate on the main line of the railroad. This series stops at Penn Station, New York, Newark, Princeton Junction, Trenton and Philadelphia. Three prior hearings were held on May 5 and June 1 and 7.

The public is invited to attend and to express its views.

FIRST FILM TUESDAY

In Library's Family Program. The first of two summer evening family movie programs will be held, with the showing of Shanghai Express on Tuesday at 8 p.m. in the Princeton Public Library.

Marlene Dietrich stars in the film with a supporting cast which includes Clive Brook, Warner Oland and Anna May Wong. The story centers around Shanghai Lily, a notorious lady who travels from Peking to Shanghai on the Express. The film, winner of an Academy Award, was directed by Josef von Sternberg. Free tickets are available at the library's information desk.

A LOOK AT THE PAST
Earliest Alumni Honored. A 600-page biographical study of the men who attended Princeton in the years leading up to the Revolution is being prepared to coincide with the nation's Bicentennial.

The book will record the lives of 530 men who graduated from the College of New Jersey between 1748 and 1776, and some 400 more who attended without earning degrees. It is being prepared by Dr. James S. McLachlan.

"This small group of men left the campus to become active participants in a momentous time," commented Dr. Lawrence Stone, Princeton professor of history. "They supplied the new nation with leadership greatly disproportionate to their number — a President (James Madison), members of the Supreme Court, senators, congressmen, federal attorneys and college presidents."

RELIEF FOR BOROUGH
Tax Proposal Amended. Borough taxpayers can breathe more easily.

The school-finance bill in the state tax-reform package has been modified to give regional school districts like Princeton's the option of paying school operating costs on a per-pupil basis.

That's the way Borough and Township share these costs now. But the school-finance bill as originally drafted, changed the per-pupil formula to a tax-rateables formula. The change could have cost Borough taxpayers additional taxes.

However, State Senator William E. Schluter doesn't think the rateables method would have cost as much as critics have charged. In a letter to Borough Councilman Robert Hendry, Mr. Schluter wrote, "My review of this subject indicates that the cost to Princeton Borough will not begin to approach $250,000" — the figure used by Mr. Hendry in recent criticisms of the new bill.

Mr. Schluter conceded the "severity" of the problem for the Borough, and added, "I can say with assurance that efforts will definitely be made to amend A-1272 so that the same system of apportioning costs in regional school districts can continue."

In a communication to Borough Mayor Robert W. Cawley, Assemblyman Karl Weidel said the bill had been amended by the Assembly Committee on Education.

Mr. Weidel told the mayor he expects the measure to go to the Assembly floor with that wording.

WHO PAYS HOW MUCH?

Borough? Township? What's the fairest way to divide costs between Borough and Township on projects they share?

Cost-sharing formulas now being used will come under scrutiny in the next weeks, announced Borough Mayor Robert W. Cawley and Township Mayor John D. Wallace this week.

In the initial phases, Borough Councilman Charles Cornforth and Township Committeeman Jay Bleiman will do the investigation. They will explore the 50-50 system, the rateables formula and the usage concept, the two mayors said.

This is the way various costs are financed at present:

- School operating expenses: per pupil basis.
- Sewer operations: use basis, with Princeton University included.
- Recreation and public library: rateables basis. This works out currently so that the Township bears two-thirds of the costs and the Borough one-third.
- Joint advisory boards (civil rights, transportation, etc.): 50-50 basis.
- Most special projects (Street Theatre, IAP, etc.): 50-50.

Seymour Plawsky, executive director of the agency, and Miss Janet Reeves, staff member are those participating. Funds were provided by a grant from the New Jersey Department of Health.

The two Family Service staff members are attending the sessions to learn more about counselling with alcoholics and their families, and about administering alcoholism programs.

"Family problems, tensions and conflicts often lead to an abusive use of alcohol," Mr. Plawsky observes, "and alcoholic problems in turn contribute to and intensify family problems."

$50,000 TO PDS

As a Challenge Grant, Princeton Day School has received a $50,000 challenge grant for scholarship endowment from the Edward E. Ford Foundation of New York. It has been announced by Headmaster Douglas O. McClure. It is the second $50,000 contribution toward scholarships received by the school from major foundations in six weeks.

The Ford Foundation's primary interest is in independent secondary education. Terms of the grant state the foundation will match, dollar for dollar up to a total of $50,000, contributions to the school's scholarship endowment fund. The challenge ends May 31, 1973.

Under the terms of a grant by Independence Foundation of Philadelphia, the school will receive $10,000 a year for five years to supplement its financial aid budget.

TRENTON PAIR CHARGED

With Possession of Stolen Machine. Two Trenton men have been charged with possession of a postage meter machine, stolen last week from an office at L.C. Bowers and Sons Construction Co., 341 Nassau Street.

Being held in Mercer County Jail in lieu of $50 bail each are James Austell, 30, and Andrew Rodriguez, 18. They are scheduled to appear in Borough court July 19.

According to the police, the company called at 7:18 Friday morning to report the theft of the postage machine, an electric typewriter and electric adding machine from a receptionist's office. The three were valued at $980.

While detectives Anthony Ranfone and Robert McAvonia were conducting their investigation at Bowers, someone called, police said, and said he had the firm's postage machine and would return it — if he received an award. Detective Ranfone was picked to act as the go-between.

At 11:25, on Patton Avenue, Ranfone met Austell who told him he had the machine in the trunk of his car. Ranfone allegedly agreed to pay $125 for the return of the $500 machine. When Austell, accompanied by Rodriguez opened the trunk, Ranfone, who had posed as an Rodriguez fled on foot and escaped. He was apprehended later in the day near Palmer Square by detective Timothy Huizing.

The two other machines have not been recovered. Chief Peter J. McCrohan said that both men denied having entered Bowers' office and taken the machines. A rear window had been forced to enter the firm, he said.

GO-KART STOLEN

From Mt. Lucas Road. A go-kart, valued at $200, was reported stolen Friday by its owner, James Weissenburger, 17, of 871 Mt. Lucas Road.

Weissenburger told Township police that the kart had last been seen at 11:30 that morning along side the family garage by his younger brother. When he looked at 7:30 that evening, he discovered it missing. A tarp that had covered the go-kart had been left behind, police said. Jerry Ofredo investigated.

TRENTON YOUTH CHARGED

With Marijuana Possession. Robert D. Pearl, 20, of Trenton, was arrested Sunday evening at 11 at the Battleground Park on Mercer Road and charged by Ptl. Frank Boccanfuso with possession of marijuana and alcoholic beverages.

He was later released in his own recognizance and faces a hearing August 2 in Township court.

Also arrested on Sunday and charged with possession of marijuana by Ptl. Mario Musso is Thomas E. Hicks, 22, of 12 Canoe Brook Drive. He also has a date in Township court on August 2.

William G. Bowen Installed as University's 17th President

In a brief ceremony—deliberately kept short and simple—Dr. William G. Bowen last Friday noon took the oath of office as President of Princeton University from retiring President Robert F. Goheen.

The formal inaugural will be held when the University re-opens in September.

The benches in the old Faculty Room in Nassau Hall were packed with 250 invited guests, including representatives of students, faculty and alumni. The town was represented by Borough Mayor Robert W. Cawley and Township Mayor John D. Wallace.

There was no formal procession, not a single stern, black academic gown. When the town's usual Friday noon fire sirens went off, guests murmured with relaxed laughter at the coincidental timing.

No. 17. Moments later, the five participants walked into the high-ceilinged chamber, watched in their informal procession by the 16 University presidents who preceded Dr. Goheen, each depicted in an oil portrait on the wall. (Dr. Bowen in his remarks, said he saw "an occasional hint of skepticism in the eye" of the 16—they'd been through it all before.)

On the heavy oak table at the end of the Faculty Room lay the Mace, presented to the University by the town in 1956, commemorating "two centuries of neighborly association." The occasion was the Bicentennial of Nassau Hall.

Behind the mace lay the Witherspoon Bible, personal Bible of John Witherspoon, the University's sixth president, and a signer of the Declaration of Independence. The

Bowen and Goheen: A Comparison Study

An article in the Princeton Alumni Weekly comments on the differences between Dr. William G. Bowen, new president of the University, and Dr. Robert F. Goheen, newly retired from the office.

Dr. Goheen, the article says, is "an Easterner of decidedly patrician background; William Bowen is a Midwesterner who was the first in his family to graduate from college."

Dr. Goheen is a humanist, Dr. Bowen a social scientist. "Robert Goheen is a reserved man who exercises his leadership from a distance; William Bowen is an enormously accessible individual who yields his influence through the force of his personality. Goheen often remained aloof from ordinary student pursuits; Bowen played touch football with the staff of the Daily Princetonian."

The article points out, however, that the men have strong similarities. Both are Democrats and liberals. Both "achieved unparalleled academic records as students; both are scholars of unimpeachable reputation."

And of course, both share a deep commitment to Princeton. Curiously, each man spent 16 years at the University before becoming president.

Bible was printed in Latin and Greek in Antwerp in 1619.

Next to the Bible lay the Trustees' Oath Book, which contains all the oaths of office of all presidents and trustees since 1880. Revised over the years and rebound, the present Oath Book was designed by P. J.J. Conkwright of the Princeton University Press.

Invocation Offered. Oaths used to be hand-written. Since 1959, all of the pages have been printed from a plate made from a calligraphic drawing of the oath of office, executed by Marjorie Pratt, wife of Professor Emeritus Carroll C. Pratt.

Ceremonies began with an invocation by Eugene Y. Lowe, Jr., young black alumni trustee of the University who was graduated in 1971 and is now a student at Union Theological Seminary.

Dr. Goheen, wearing a broadly striped orange-and-black Princeton University tie, administered the short oath of office to Dr. Bowen who repeated the promises in a strong, clear voice.

R. Manning Brown Jr., chairman of the trustees' executive committee, then asked Dr. Bowen if he cared to make any remarks and the new president drew laughter from the audience as he immediately reached into his pocket and pulled out the paper with his brief speech written on it.

University's Role Defined. Dr. Bowen emphasized the University's role as "a center of learning—a place to which new students, with new enthusiasms and new perspectives, come again each year to work with scholars engaged in the age-old pursuit of knowledge."

Fostering of personal values and a sense of continuing obligation to others are also vital parts of the University, Dr. Bowen declared. He warned, however, that the University "is not equally well-suited to all tasks, and we need to avoid the arrogance that can afflict university communities no less than other groups."

Dr. Bowen, as Provost of the University, has been in the thick of much undergraduate unrest in recent years, and he observed that "contention is the life-blood of any good university . . . it is by testing ideas that we sharpen them and make them serviceable."

But he urged compassion, mutual respect, courage and good humor and declared that, in testing out new ideas, "the spirit of our advocacy is as important as its quality."

Following a Benediction by Dean Earnest Gordon of the University Chapel, the gathering dispersed.

Costs Are Inflationary. The new president, who is 38 years old, has been regarded for some years as the country's leading expert on the financing of higher education. His report, "The Economics of the Major Private Universities," published by the Carnegie Commission in 1969, is a landmark, chiefly known for "Bowen's Law": costs at private universities will inexorably increase by 7.5% a year.

A graduate of Denison University, where he was tennis captain, Dr. Bowen earned his doctorate in economics at Princeton in 1958. His dissertation, "The Wage-Price Issue: A Theoretical Analysis" was published by the Princeton University Press.

Incidentally, as a married graduate student, Dr. Bowen lived in "The Project," the World War II monument on Harrison Street.

Joining the faculty the same year he received his PhD, he established his reputation firmly and quickly, and in 1965 at the age of 31, was appointed professor of economics—the second-youngest faculty member to be made a full professor. The office of Provost was established in 1966, and Dr. Bowen became Provost a year later.

In the Princeton community, Dr. Bowen is renowned for his slashing tennis game; in fact, he took the Princeton men's singles title about the time he became a full professor.

JUDGE FINED $30

For Speeding. Township Judge Burton Peskin, who is usually the one to issue fines in Township traffic court, was on the receiving end last week.

Judge Peskin (of 79 Meadowbrook Drive) was fined $5 court costs and $25 in Borough court last week for speeding by Somerset County Judge B. Thomas Leahy. The latter was appointed by Superior Court Judge Frank Kingfield after Borough Judge Theodore T. Tams Jr. decided not to rule on his colleague.

Ptl. David Lewis had charged Judge Peskin with speeding 46 miles an hour in a 25-mile zone in the Borough. After hearing testimony from both sides, Judge Leahy found Judge Peskin guilty of speeding 30 miles an hour - the speed Judge Peskin had estimated he was traveling when he was stopped.

He was represented by attorney George Pelletieri Jr., Assistant Borough Attorney G. Thomas Reynolds Jr. represented the borough.

TO HELP FLOOD VICTIMS: Clothes, shoes, baby food, cooking utensils, blankets, sheets, disposable diapers . . . instant response was the reaction of Princeton when young members of Interact, the Rotary organization, asked help for flood victims. Sunday afternoon, some 16 Interact members helped load one and one-half truckloads for shipment to Pennsylvania disaster areas. The pile of filled cartons is stacked at the rear of Borough Hall. Close-ups show the Rev. Edward Smith of First Baptist Church, who guided the project for the Pastors' Association; Pam Bart, Interact's representative, and Beth McKeever, also of Interact.

has received contributions of $4,625 to employ a third Psychology Trainee.

The funds were raised mainly through the efforts of Mrs. Frank Taplin of Princeton, a member of the board. Mrs.

Taplin said that the contributors prefer to remain anonymous.

The center is fully accredited by the American Psychological Association for training clinical psychologists, and it is the only organization in the state accredited by the American Association of Psychiatric Services for Children to train clinical child psychologists.

In addition to this program, the center is one of three in New Jersey, and the only agency in Mercer County, accredited to train child psychiatrists. The training program includes psychiatric social workers and teachers in special education for emotionally disturbed children.

MEDICAL AWARD WON

By WHWH. WHWH Radio, has received an honorable mention in the 1971 Medical Journalism Awards Program of the American Medical Association. It was the only suburban radio station in the country represented on the awards roster in company with NBC News; WMAL, Washington, D.C.; WCCO, Minneapolis; and KABC, Los Angeles.

The Station, owned and operated by the Nassau Broadcasting Company, received an Honorable Mention Award for its series, "The World of Princeton Hospital," broadcast in January-February, 1971.

The series, written and produced by Herbert W. Hobler, President of the company, was in answer to an urgent appeal by the hospital to help meet a building fund deadline for an emergency wing.

Mr. Hobler taped 22 interviews, from one to five minutes long, which explored the day-to-day operations of the hospital, the facilities, personnel, services available and the overall scope of how much additional funds were needed. A total of sixty-six broadcasts were aired in seven days, each preceded and followed by a status report on the fund and the balance needed.

Sturdy, Meaty Summer Fare: "Billy Liar" Is Worthwhile

"Billy Liar" is no frothy summer cooler—more like a good British steak-and-kidney pie, when you come down to it. And to keep the metaphor going, you'll find it lumpy in spots with a bit of fat that could be trimmed, but it's substantial and we recommend a helping.

The play, by Keith Waterhouse and Willis Hall, is Summer Intime's first production of their fifth summer season. It will play again in Murray Theatre on the University campus this Thursday, Friday and Saturday at 8:30 and Sunday at 7:30.

Daniel Berkowitz, the director, has drawn performances from his eight-member cast that are almost professional in calibre and although he's had to contend with a script that's wordy at times, he has kept the play in motion.

"Billy" is a curious sort of play. A comedy, yes, because there are built-in laughs (good old TV sit-com style) whenever a young man's wild fancy tangles him with three girls at the same time. And a pair from Billy's English working-class life—his fellow worker in the funeral-parlor and a magnificently shrill female—are very funny whenever they appear. And a senile granny has some great lines, assuming you regard senility as a matter for amusement.

No Walter Mitty. But what about poor old Billy, now? Bright, imaginative, 20 years old, he's been to a good English public school at great parental sacrifice ("and don't you ever forget it!") How come he lives such a fantasy-life? Because he really lives it—he's no Walter Mitty spilling his dreams into private fantasies.

True, he is bullied and hassled by his Dad—but Dad is really not a bad sort—and he has a typical anxious, over-loving Mum.

So what's really the matter with Billy? The authors never let us find out, and in the end we are puzzled and a bit sad.

Billy finally has a chance to leave the funeral-parlor and his north-of-England working-class home for the lights of London with one of his girlfriends.

He almost makes it, but he sneaks back home. We have to assume—but the ending is abrupt and are we quite sure?

News Of The Theatres

—that he'd rather live in dreams than in London.

Difficult Assignment. Joseph Harbeson has the handsome, dreamy face that belongs to a would-be poet, or in this case, a would-be script writer, and he succeeds in a very tricky acting assignment: he conveys to the audience the fact that he's lying, but at the same time he is so natural that you can easily understand why people believe what he's saying.

The most memorable characters in this "Billy Liar" are granny and the girl-friend Rita. Georgine Freedman, in every halting gesture, every nuance of creaking voice, is flawless in her interpretation of the old lady. (Aside: why did Waterhouse-Hall gave so much attention to this character? She doesn't merit, as part of Billy's life and problems, a long monologue describing her death.)

Then, that Rita! Anne Louise Hoffman, with a voice that crackles like her chewing gum and a pair of spike-heeled red shoes sharp enough to gouge an engagement ring out of a male pocket (or off another girl's finger), is a splendidly spitting little firecracker. Maybe she overplays to the point of burlesque (or burlesque?) but she's a sizzling delight.

William Bowman, toothpick spinning between his lips, is first-rate as Billy's funeral-parlor mate. Anne Sheldon performs the right amount of handwringing as Billy's mother, and Alice White is proper as proper se should be, as the possessor of Billy's engagement ring.

Carmen Apelgren, appearing in brief role as Liz, seems flat after the build-up we've heard about how dirty and rowdy she is (but that's a nice hole in the stocking.) Richard Ferrugio, as Billy's father, tants well, and succeeds in making us think he really is middle-aged.

Realism. British kitchen sink style. A sound, well-acted production. The summer is well begun.

—Katharine H. Bretnall

Mrs. Van Sant starred in the Pennington Players' "Milk and Honey." Mr. Carrigan is tenor soloist in the Princeton University Chapel.

"Kismet's" choral director is Richard M. Loatman and the choreographer is Joan Lucas. The orchestra is under the direction of Herbert Hunsberger.

Others in the production are Wayne Carter, Kasia Kuklich, Christine Klotz, Lisa Brady, Robin Goldman, Karen Kahn, William Agass, Norm Friedman, George Kolitsas and Warren Raymond.

PLAYHOUSE & BRUNSWICK

What's Up Doc? (now playing) is a comedy with Ryan O'Neal as an absent-minded musicologist and Barbra Streisand as the free-spirited girl who keeps getting him in trouble with his straight-laced fiancée, Madeline Kahn.

The film is very much in the mood of the comedies of the Thirties. There's a chase scene that is elaborate, extremely funny, and covers much of the city of San Francisco. The best and funniest moment comes in

THE SWINGIN' BEDS

At Alternatives. A slim young man with a leggy blonde in tow whipped down the stairs at 3 Spring Street. They followed the striped arrows through the basement hall and hove to beside the waterbed in Alternatives.

"First of all, the deal is to try to convince our landlady that a waterbed won't wreck her floor," the man told Skip Smith, Alternatives' new owner. "If she says okay..."

"She's 90 or something," the blonde interrupted. "She's never even heard of a waterbed!"

"Let me give you some ammunition," said Skip. "It can't bother the floors from water spillage. The mattress is completely within a liner. In order to get water on the floor you'd have to cut it with a knife."

The two sat on the waterbed, patted it and watched the undulating movement of the mattress. "We have a mattress that we got for about $19 to $25. Now that we have an apartment, we want a frame. What's your dirt cheapest?"

Dirt cheapest, Skip Smith

A MAJOR EXPERIENCE IN COMFORT: The Yucatan hammock, so wide that you can fold it around you, made of nearly two miles of hand woven string with a gossamer look, yet strong enough to support a heavy man. Try it at Alternatives, 3 Spring Street, off Witherspoon, and enjoy.

told them is the $25 frame of raw wood ready to assemble. He showed them a Neptune waterbed frame of handcrafted pine, daddoed and cross-bolted for added strength, and finished in a dark walnut stain, priced at $40. "If you built your own frame, that lumber would cost you $1.90 a foot," he estimated. "You're going to need a liner plastic liner, and that's $10. If you want to make your own frame, it's no problem. Cost you about $15."

The girl, in red bikini and hiphuggers, went to examine the raw wood frames and came back to the Neptune bed. "I think it would be cooler to spend the $50."

More Options. The discussion veered to the cost of a heater and a thermostat. A heater keeps the vinyl mattress pliant, and the water warm. The thermostat, which can be bought later, Skip Smith told the couple, gives more control.

They went into the various types of mattresses for waterbeds: from inexpensive ones for use outdoors, to Aquabeds, and Neptunes at $35 to $80. "They are all hand done now," Skip noted, "because their whole reputation depends on a quality product."

"Well, we've got a lot of things to figure," the young man said. "Now, if we can just talk our landlady into this...well, I hope we can see you next Wednesday." And they clattered off.

Buying a waterbed is cheaper than buying a large box spring and mattress, Skip Smith told us later. And more restful. You have the weightless sensation of floating. Many users find that they need less sleep.

Customers at Alternatives usually buy, the king size which costs as much as the conventional double bed. Some buy a pair of single beds, and there are the usual sizes in between. You can even choose round, oval, square and heart-shaped mattresses and frames.

Fireproof, Too. A good mattress, held by a frame, is soft and supple. As many as five or six people can jump and romp on it. If you drop a lighted cigaret on the mattress, it will not harm it as the water disperses the heat so that the vinyl won't reach a flammable temperature.

Alternatives lends its customers a hose for filling or—if you are moving—to drain the mattress, which is a gentle, seeping procedure, and no flooding of the drains.

"Happiness," Skip Smith paraphrases, "is a warm waterbed."

Alternatives also has for your comfort unusual hammocks from Yucatan. Made by the Mayas of two and three-miles of colored string, they spread to enormous widths of air-cooled net that make you feel absolutely weightless. The netting is soft, but very strong, and in the tropics is good for at least five years.

The Yucatan hammock is so wide that you back into it, lifting a section over your head. As you lean back, the hammock spreads, and there you are, crosswise in a giant bed. For lounging and reading, you lie crosswise; for sleeping, lie in a diagonal position and pull the remaining netting around you, in a kid of cocoon. You're completely comfortable. The hammock is not usually used lengthwise.

Safety Factor. The hammock seems to be helpful to people with backaches, and to pregnant women who can't find a comfortable position. In Yucatan, babies are left in safety by drawing together and fastening the sides of their own smaller hammocks.

Alternatives has the hammocks in two sizes: a single ($29.95) and a double ($60). The double is so large that there is a way of dividing it into two distinct hammocks. The colors usually a blend of stripes, are beautiful.

Another hammock at Alternatives is the Brazilian version in a close woven fabric of white or a solid color such as yellow, green or orange. Not nearly as wide as the Yucatan, and slightly shorter, it has a white-tassled fringe at the sides. The fabric is hand-woven. ($25.)

Alternatives is open daily at 1 p.m.

DUCK SAUCE

And Wicker Monkeys. The Orient Shop of Witherspoon Street has stocked its shelves with everything from rice wine vinegar and duck sauce to wicker monkeys perched on wicker baskets.

There's a new supply of casseroles in stoneware. Some are large enough for a big party, and there are various sizes on down to individual. Among the large ones, a creamy gray lightly decorated in earthen tones. ($12.50). Oven-proof, of course. A bit more oriental in design is the creamy white casserole with brown rim and handles. Both top and bottom are shaped like the typical Japanese bowl with sharply flaring sides from narrow bases. This can be used over the stove burner. ($18.)

There are many enchanting little gifts for the newlyweds, such as yellow - and - orange mushrooms for salt and pepper ($1.50); and sectional plates for patio cookery, made of stoneware in a choice of soft shades. ($3.50 each). Linked blocks of hardwood to slip under hot dishes ($1.10), and sets of cork-centered coasters, eight to a rack.

The Orient Shop has a good supply of circular placemats of tightly woven straw. Made in the Philippines. And pottery mugs with interesting designs. Near them is a small glazed pot with a wide, flat cork — for a number of uses.

Cast-Iron Monkey. The low, roofed lanterns you see in the California - Japanese gardens are available at the shop. Made of cast iron with an antique green hue ($18.) The cast iron monkey that will hold your garden light is similarly priced.

We saw pretty vases, including a four-sided design in white and rich blue. There are a few small tables, including a round, brass tray-table for your next Victorian tea party. Simply etched, the golden-toned tray sits on the crossbars of four wooden legs. In today's mood is the round, wicker-top table supported by black-painted iron legs. ($25). Windchimes are even more varied than usual. Near them is the brass gong you've been looking for to get the TV-watches to the dinner table. A padded mallet comes with it. ($12.95).

The Orient Shop has big paper lanterns in pure white and in joyous colors. ($2.50 up). There are small wooden sculptures; a horse, a rough old bull, a snail.

And, of course, tea pots.

O'Neal's hotel room where one insane disaster comes on top of another.

While the two leading actors are capable, it is Madeline Kahn who really brings out the spirit and fun of the old comedies. Not until the climactic scene, where all the characters are gathered to tell it to the judge does the film take on the satiric thrust and note of anarchy that was a key intention of the screwball comedy.

GARDEN

Play It Again, Sam (now playing) has Woody Allen cast as a movie nut who has waited years to play the final scene from "Casablanca." The memorable farewell at the airport of Humphrey Bogart and Ingrid Bergman.

The film opens with this final five minutes, and closes with the same scene, now starring Woody, Diane Keaton and Tony Roberts. In between, typical one-line jokes by the comic, and a running gag with Roberts forever calling in where he can be reached by phone.

The slapstick hits are the most successful, including Allen's battle with a hairdryer that is bringing about a hurricane wind in his bathroom. He poses some reasonable questions, such as where do all the psychiatrists go for their summer vacation? (The nerve of it, leaving the rest of us to go nuts until Labor Day!)

PRINCE

Nicholas and Alexandra (now playing) is a low-key spectacular about the downfall of the Romanovs and the end of imperial Russia. The emphasis is on character rather than action, and the horror of the times is held to a slow, steady burn. When the end comes for the Romanovs, the shock is all the more powerful.

It is difficult for an actor to portray a gentle or weak person and have him engage the viewer's interest for three hours, but Michael Jayston's quiet interpretation of Nicholas builds slowly and firmly. Janet Suzman as his more forceful Empress, is equally successful.

Based upon Robert K. Massie's biography, the film opens with the birth of the couple's son Alexis, and during the first half details their tragic discovery that he has hemophilia and the Empress' dependence on the peasant mystic, Rasputin. Tom Baker as the monk, gives the one flamboyant performance. The Romanovs glide around their palace like enchanted lovers, and the film treats them sympathetically, but at the same time shows where they were in the wrong.

Franklin J. Shaifner, who favored characterization over battle scenes in "Patton," has minimized the blood and gore in the streets in this film as well.

MORE WORK DUE ON I-95 $10.5 Million Received. The Federal Highway Administration has allocated $10.5 million to New Jersey which will enable the Department of Transportation to extend Interstate Route 95 from Scotch Road in Hopewell Township to its junction with Interstate Route 295 at Federal City Road in Lawrence Township.

I-295 now is under construction from Federal City Road eastward almost to Route 1. Construction of an interchange at Route 1 under a future contract will provide the major connection for I-95 extending south over the Scudder Falls Bridge and the Delaware River into Pennsylvania.

The $10.5 million was granted to New Jersey from funds which the Federal Highway Administration had assembled from other states which did not commit their full allocations during the fiscal year as New Jersey has. Governor William T. Cahill had advised U.S. Secretary John A. Volpe that the State could immediately utilize as much as $44 million of such Federal funds.

Committee Congratulated.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

Following is the text of a letter sent to the Princeton Township Committee.

The League of Women Voters congratulates the Princeton Township Committee for passing a strong bipartisan resolution in support of the broad objectives of the proposed tax reform legislation now under deliberation by the New Jersey Assembly Taxation Committee.

By sending copies to each mayor in Mercer County you will set an important precedent for other municipalities to follow.

By sending copies to each of our legislators you will give them needed support to report the bills out of committee and act in the best interest of all the residents of New Jersey.

Agenda Listings of Value.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

One of the problems of many Princetonians is that they do not know when the Borough and Township governing bodies are having their meetings and what are the subjects coming up for discussion.

Some of these subjects are very important to many of us and a matter of grave public concern.

Wouldn't it be possible for your paper to have a regular box on the front page, listing the forth coming public meetings and the date, the hour, and the subjects to be considered and discussed. Interested citizens would value this information so that they could arrange to be present and have the opportunity of expressing their opinions.

NATHALIE PIERREPONT
(Mrs. R. S. Pierrepont)
1 Haslet Avenue

Editor's Note: The time and place of all major public meetings are listed each week in TOWN TOPICS' Calendar. The agenda for all of them is not always available in advance, and when it is, often merits greater length (in story form) than can be summarized in a box.

Use of Ages Questioned.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

This should be an unusual letter, since I am really writing to the Editor. I would appreciate his answering a question that continues to bother me every time I read TOWN TOPICS. What is so newsworthy about printing ages of all persons fined for minor motor vehicle infractions? Why is it more newsworthy than printing the ages of people convicted of criminal actions?

MORRIS FORER
113 Dempsey Avenue

Editor's Note: In line with standard newspaper procedure, TOWN TOPICS publishes the ages of those involved in police proceedings as a matter of identification. Mr. Forer is correct — it isn't more newsworthy to print the ages of those involved in one type of infraction than another, but police do not always make them available in uniform fashion.

NOTICE

Letters to TOWN TOPICS' "Mailbox" should be typed, double-spaced, signed and received for publication no later than Monday. No letter will be printed without a valid signature and address. Letters longer than 500 words may be edited or omitted entirely, at the discretion of the editor. Letters on subjects not specifically related to the Princeton area may also be rejected.

Scotch Road will be completed and a full interchange constructed at Route 31. Construction of the main roadways will stop at the point where they begin to turn northward, and permanent connecting roadway will extend eastward to join I-295 at Federal City Road.

The I-95 construction is expected to be completed in October, 1974. The I-295 project now under construction is scheduled for completion in November, 1973.

The contract for the final link—the interchange at Route 1—is scheduled for advertisement this fall. The entire interchange will take two years to complete, but portions of it will be opened to traffic as they are completed.

Bids for the 3.4-mile I-95 construction contract will be received August 3.

Similar programs are also held for teachers from other nations, according to Henry N. Drewry, Director of Princeton's Teacher Preparation and Placement Program, who is coordinating arrangements here.

Morning instruction sessions in the Woodrow Wilson School of Public and International Affairs will be complemented by evening programs involving speakers and films at Wilcox Hall. The participants, who will live in 1938 Hall and eat

Old Battle Flag Goes Back to Nassau Hall

Proclaiming "The Love of Our Country Leads Us," the banner of the old Princeton Blues — a militia company first formed here in 1796 — hangs now in Nassau Hall. It was rescued for the University by unidentified friends at a recent auction in Washington, D. C., and presented to the University Library.

Depicted on the flag, in a painting attributed to John A. Woodside, a Philadelphian well-known for decorating fire apparatus during the middle of the 19th century, is an engagement in front of Nassau Hall during the Battle of Princeton (1777). The Redcoats are shown about to flee from Washington's troops.

The flag was originally presented to the Princeton Blues, an infantry company, by the citizens of Princeton 125 years ago — on January 3, 1847, the 70th anniversary of the Battle.

According to historians, the militia company was first organized in Princeton in 1796 and continued until about 1820. The unit reportedly ceased to function shortly thereafter, but was revived in 1824 to participate in the reception of General Lafayette when he visited Princeton on his grand tour of the United States.

By the time of the Civil War the company had disbanded again, although it was succeeded by other groups, among them the Governor's Guard and the Continentals. On the reverse side of the 4 x 6 foot banner are the arms of the State of New Jersey. The pennant has been hung in the office of the Dean of the Faculty, Room 9 — appropriately located only a short distance from the scene depicted thereon.

Environmental Calendar

Compiled by Friends of the Princeton Environment

Wednesday, July 5

8 p.m.: Regional Planning Board, Borough Hall.

Environmental Notes

Summer is an auspicious time for investigating the natural treasures at our doorstep. The Public Library has the key — a supply of maps of Princeton's open space parks, and a copy of the former Open Space Commissions Guide to those places.

One of the most interesting areas, especially for observers of animal life, is the Wildlife Refuge off Alexander road. It preserves within 39 acres a large marsh for the benefit of dozens of bird species, small mammals and amphibians. On the other hand, if hiking through the forest primeval is wanted, there are three of them in the Township. The Woodfield Reservation, near the Great Road at Drakes Corner, and the Herrontown Woods, off Snowden Lane, have between them over 200 acres. Diverse, well marked trails lead past a variety of trees and plants, not to mention rock formations of the diabase ridge which runs below a large section of the town. Autumn Hill, the newest addition to the Open Space repository is now open to the public.

The Borough has Marquand Park, justly famous for its native and imported trees and shrubs, and there are recreational facilities for youngsters. Add to all this Lake Carnegie and the Delaware-Raritan Canal, those sparkling gems which lure the boatmen and fishermen. One wonders why anyone would leave Princeton in the Summer. Could it be the weather?

FOOTNOTE LEADS WAY

To Woodrow Wilson Letters.
A footnote, the bairn of many a young term paper writer's existence, provided a lead for the eventual uncovering of an interesting group of letters from Woodrow Wilson and resulted in an important gift to the Princeton University library from an elderly British lady.

It all began about a year ago when Dr. David W. Hirst, Senior Research Historian and Associate Editor of The Papers of Woodrow Wilson — a major project underway here which to date has resulted in 12 published volumes — decided to see if he could uncover more biographical background on a landscape and portrait artist named Frederic Yates.

Yates had painted a portrait of Wilson which hangs at Princeton in the foyer of "Prospect," now the social and dining facility of the faculty and staff, where Wilson resided as President of the University from 1902 to 1910.

"We really didn't know enough about Yates, with whom Wilson established a warm friendship during recu-perative visits to the lake district of England in 1906 and again in 1908," explains Hirst.

So he wrote to the National Portrait Gallery in London where one of Yates' paintings is included in the collection. To see if they might have additional information on this turn-of-the-century artist. Subsequent correspondence revealed that Yates' only daughter still lived at the family cottage in Rydal, near Ambleside, Westmorland, England, where Wil-chairman.

son had gone some 65 years ago.

22 Letters, Miss Mary Yates not only supplied all the missing data about her father but also revealed that she had material relating to Wilson, including at least 22 autograph and typed letters of the late President to her father and mother, written between 1906 and 1923. This material is now in the University Library.

"The gift adds an important new dimension to our Wilson Collection," Hirst points out.
"It reflects a warm, friendship of Wilson, the kind of relationship Wilson had only with close friends."

Yates (1854-1919) was commissioned by the University to paint Wilson's portrait after the Wilsons met the Yates family on their 1906 visit to England not long after Wilson had suffered a major stroke.
A friendship developed which was to flourish in succeeding years.

Yates accepted an invitation to The White House to watch Wilson's inauguration in 1913 and, at the artist's request, was given the flag which flew at the new President's side when he took the oath of office. Yates had previously visited Wilson at Princeton in 1910.

Wilson's Flag. While Miss
Yates has given to Princeton Wilson's letters to her father, the flag, at the suggestion of the Editors of The Wilson Papers, is being donated to the Wilson House in Washington, a national trust. It last flew in Rydal, England, according to Hirst, on V-E Day, which marked the end of the European struggle in World War II.

Other items in the gift to Princeton include letters of Yates, of Wilson's first wife, Ellen Axson Wilson, of daughters Jessie and Margaret Wilson; of a cousin, Helen Woodrow Bones, and of Wilson's biographer, Ray Stannard Baker. There is also additional memorabilia of the friendship between the Wilson and Yates families, including parts of Miss Yates' diary relating to the Wilsons' visits to Amblesside, as well as clips, photos, tearsheets, campaign souvenirs, and wedding invitations.

The items will join Princeton's extensive collection of Woodrow Wilson's manuscripts, one of the most important of the Library's collections of American historical papers.

Working with Hirst full-time on the Wilson Papers is Dr.
Arthur S. Link, the Edwards
Professor of American History at Princeton, who directs the project, and Dr. John E. Little, also an Associate Editor.
Twelve volumes already have been published, and volumes 14, 15, 16 and 17 are currently at the printers. (Volume 13, a cumulative table of contents and index of the first 12 volumes, is due out next year.)

Wilson on Women. Among the more interesting of the letters in the Wilson-Yates exchange is one written by Wilson in 1908 just before embarking on his return voyage to the United States.

"Women," he wrote, "whether by nature or circumstances, draw their conclusions about public affairs from logical reason, whereas safe and wise conclusions in such affairs can be drawn only from experience."

He went on to say that the "experience" about which he was talking was "experience of the world, such as women have not had and cannot have unless drawn entirely into the open and safe-guarded in no way."

"Married women could never get the necessary experience unless the present constitution of the family and the

LEAGUES BACK PLAN

For Solid Waste Disposal. The Leagues of Women Voters of Mercer County have announced their support for a county-wide plan for solid waste disposal.

Mrs. Glenn Mohrman, president of the Leagues' County Council, said that this plan was developed by the Mercer County Improvement Authority as a long-term solution to Mercer County's solid waste problems.

The plan's two major recommendations call for an engineered sanitary landfill until 1979 using up to 800 acres, to be situated within nine miles of 80 percent of Mercer's population. By 1979, on 18 acres of the same site, a permanent volume reduction center would be built, which would handle solid wastes till the year 2000.

The county would thus have the intervening years to decide on the optimum long-term volume reduction method, possibly one that is now only in the experimental stage. The Leagues have studied and support both major aspects of this plan.

Superior Design. The design of this sanitary landfill, the Leagues feel, is a superior one, because it would have daily refuse compaction and cover, a specially designed lining to prevent seeping of pollutants into underground water supplies, and constant monitoring and control programs to combat such problems as fires, odors, and rodents.

An additional benefit, they note, is that the cost of hauling and disposal (collection is not included in this plan) is figured to be cheaper per ton of refuse for every municipality than what they now pay.

Mrs. Mohrman notes that, as a result of their studies, the League members have suggested additional ideas that they would like the Improvement Authority to incorporate into their plan.

They want to see recycling of materials given high priority, with separation taking place in the home, since rebates are to be given to municipalities on the basis of quantities of recyclable material each brings to the landfill.

New Methodis. They also want to see a greater compaction of refuse on the site than is now planned, so that less land than 800 acres would be needed. She says that the Leagues will urge the Improvement Authority to continually explore the most up-to-date landfilling methods to make the landfill as clean and efficient as possible, and to establish a recourse for any citizen complaints that might arise.

Mrs. Mohrman points out that the Leagues of Women Voters of Mercer County will themselves continue their study of sanitary landfill methods and will be examining, in the next few years, the possible choices for a permanent volume reduction method to be used after 1979.

In addition, the individual Leagues will actively encourage municipalities in their areas to join this regional solid waste disposal plan and to pass ordinances requiring the separation in the home of at least some recyclable materials.

Anyone wishing further information on the Princeton Area League's activities in this area, can contact its Solid Waste Study Group Chairman, Myrna Jenkins, at 921-7126.

sity but encompassing participants from 21 colleges and universities.

The American collegians, representing 21 states, are working in factories, hospitals, banks, business firms, and summer camps — normally for periods of 10 weeks. An additional three weeks will be available for independent travel.

In addition to receiving salaries comparable to those paid the firms' regular employees in similar jobs, many also have travel grants paying their way over and back. Part of the funds for these grants have come from cooperating European businesses, while a number of American foundations also back the programs. Students working for larger firms or hospitals are generally living in employer-provided housing with other workers.

47 to France. Under arrangements made by Professor Blanchard W. Bates, Professor of Romance Languages, Princeton's European Civilization Program has sent 47 men and women to jobs in France for the 18th consecutive year.

Another 36 are working in Austria, Germany, and Switzerland under a German Summer Work Program initiated 14 years ago, with arrangements now overseen by Professor Werner G. Hollmann, of Princeton's Department of Germanic Languages and Literatures.

Anne Lynch, 166 Jefferson Road, a student at Princeton, will be working in a Paris specialty store.

Both programs are designed to give students opportunity to gain close acquaintance with the life of French- and German-speaking countries, to attain a deeper understanding by sharing another people's daily life, and thus gain some insight into the cultural, economic, political activities of a European country. Each student is fluent in the language of the country in which he or she will work.

Support for Program. Dr. Hollmann expressed appreciation to the Max Kade Foundation of New York for its support of his program; and Dr. Bates noted that, as in the past, those working in France were welcomed at an orienta-

Reduced Pool Fees Available

One of the objectives established by the Joint Recreation Board regarding use of the Community Park Pools is to assure that no Princeton resident is denied entrance for economic reasons.

Families or individuals who are unable to pay the established season or daily admission rates are invited to make alternate fee proposals directly to R. Donald Barr, executive director of the Princeton Recreation Department, at Township Hall. His number is 921-9480.

Daily admission for residents 16 and over is $1 weekdays and $1.50 weekends and holidays. For those 15 and under the rates are 25c and 50c. Season fees are family, $40; husband and wife, $25; husband and wife over 65, $20; adult, 16 and over, $15; 65 and over, $12; and child, under 15, $10.

tion program arranged by the Association Franco-Americaine Atlantique and its Secretary-General, Madame Roche-Prevotiere.

France-bound students also spent a day at the headquarters of the Organization for Economic Cooperation and Development, where Hans von Seidl-Zellbrug, a member of the O.E.C.D. Secretariat who did graduate work at Princeton, served as their host. Von Seidl-Zellbrug is President of the Princeton Club of Paris.

What's the long-range effect of the two programs?

"As these young men and women return to their universities, they make important contributions both to their courses and to the life of the campus based on their brief but penetrating experience of another civilization," explains Professor Bates. "As they go on in life, whatever their profession, we expect them to retain and broaden their understanding of other nations."

In addition to Princeton, participants this summer come from Amherst, Brown, Douglass, Grinnell, Iowa State University, La Salle, the Latin American Institute (New York), Livingston, Middlebury, Nebraska Wesleyan, Rider, State University of New York at Albany, Stockton State College, Swarthmore, Westminster Choir College, Williams, Yale, and the Universities of California, Maine and Wisconsin.

SEVERAL PROGRAMS SET

By Museum Planetarium. This summer at the New Jersey State Museum Planetarium, a variety of programs will be offered to satisfy people of all ages who are interested in the night sky. The summer schedule began July 1 and will run through September 4.

Every Saturday, Sunday and holiday at 2, 3 and 4 p.m., and every weekday at 11 a.m. and 1 p.m., the Planetarium's feature program, "Jupiter and the Grand Tour," will be presented. The program analyzes this giant planet of the solar system and its role in the exploration of the distant planets.

Since children must be seven years of age to be admitted to the regular weekday and weekend programs, every Friday morning at 10:00 the Planetarium will offer "Astronomy for the Family," a program designed especially for children under seven, and their parents.

For those who will be spending their summer camping, the Planetarium offers "The Summer Sky for Campers." This presentation is designed to give everyone something to talk about while gazing at the stars on clear summer nights. The program will be given on three Thursdays: July 20, 27 and August 3, at 3 p.m.

Moon-Talks. Every weekday afternoon at 3 p.m. (with the exception of the Thursdays "The Summer Sky for Campers" is offered) a Planetarium staff member will give an informal Moon-Talk, in the Planetarium Lobby.

These brief talks will make extensive use of the Planetarium's scale model of the near side of the moon, and will deal with the nature and structure of the lunar surfaces including information gathered by the men and machines of the Apollo program.

Finally, observation of the sun with one of the Planetarium's telescopes will be held each clear weekday at 2 p.m. Tickets for admission to the Planetarium are available to the public, free of charge, one-half hour before the start of each program.

The State Museum is open Monday through Saturday and holidays from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., and Sundays from 2 to 5 p.m. The Museum is closed Thanksgiving, Christmas, New Year and Independence Days.

POST 76 IS HURT

By Lack of Hitting. Princeton Post 76 received two fine pitching performances last week from John Mooney and Lance Marshall but it scored a total of one run in both games, losing both by one-run margins.

Games coming up include one in Trenton Saturday with Post 93, another here at Clarke Field Sunday against North Trenton Post 458, and a third Monday against Lawrence Post 414 at Eggerts Crossing Field. The team was scheduled to play at home this Wednesday against Hightstown Post 148.

In dropping a 2-1 decision to Ewing Wednesday, Post 76 scored its first run in 21 innings — and that one was unearned. Mike Carlucci singled in the first, advanced to third on a passed ball and infield out and came home on another error.

Mooney's only bad inning was the second when he allowed four hits and both Ewing runs. He retired the last 12 batters in a row.

The game ended with a disputed call at the plate that would have tied it. Ren Scott was on first when Carlucci came up with an infield hit. The ball was thrown past first and Scott tried to score all the way from first but was thrown out at home on a disputed call.

Earlier, Marshall locked up with Bob Hollins of Hamilton Post 313 in a classic pitchers' dual. Through seven innings the game was scoreless, Marshall allowing just three hits.

In the eighth, Hamilton scored the lone run of the game to win, 1-0. Chris Crane with two singles was the only Post 76 runner to reach first base.

ROMA HAS 6-0 MARK

Hook & Ladder Trails. The Little League division of the Princeton Youth Baseball Association lost a fair share of its games to the weatherman last week but those that were played had little effect on the standings.

Roma Eterna is still on top with a perfect 6-0 mark, followed by Hook & Ladder a game behind. In third place is Post 76 with a 4-2 record.

Roma exploded for 11 runs against Engine No. 1, getting two hits apiece from John Rosenthal, Dave Fitzgerald, John Boccanfuso and winning pitcher Carl Nassaro. It was a 19-3 final. Earlier, the league leaders demolished Engine No. 3, 24-1, as Boccanfuso struck out 16 and Peter Scott had three hits.

Hook & Ladder defeated Eagles, 4-2, benefitting from a pair of triples by Al Kendall and Jon Miller, the winner pitcher. Darnell Burford, H & L's right fielder, twice cut off runs with strikes from the outfield.

In another contest, H & L broke a 4-4 tie with Elks by scoring eight runs in the fifth inning. The key blow was winning pitcher Robert Rosner's double with the bases loaded. Charles Waaben was a defensive standout in center for the victors.

Italian-American Sportsmen Club, after falling behind, 6-1, to Engine No. 3 came roaring back on a grand slam by Justin Leuper and added five more runs in the last inning. Bruno Perna got the win.

In other games, Mark Taylor of Post 76 pitched the season's first no-hitter, stopping Elks, 3-1, and Engine No. 1 lost 13-4 to the same Post team.

PBA GRABS LEAD

In Babe Ruth League. Delayed a week by rain, the Babe Ruth Division of the Princeton Youth Baseball League finally managed to get a full week of play in last week.

After opening games, the Patrolmen's Benevolent team is on top with a 2-0 record; New York Life and Thorne's are tied at 1-1, while Princeton Bank and Trust is winless in two starts. Team managers are Bob Bruschi, New York Life; Fred Leuper Jr., Thorne's; Gil Spencer, Prince-runs with a pair of bases-loaded singles. Singles by Jeff Bartolino and Hermann produced two more runs in that big inning. Dan Clohossey was the batting star for the losers. He rapped a triple, double and two singles in four appearances.

Earlier PBA defeated NY Life, 4-2. PBA jumped to a 2-0 lead in the first on a triple by Petrone, scoring Pat Kahny who had walked and Bob McHugh who had singled.

NYL came back to tie it, however, on singles by Paul Soderman, Dave Robinson and Jim LaPlaca. In the fourth PBA scored two more runs as it took advantage of some walks and NYL errors. Bob McHugh got the win, Robinson was charged with the loss.

In another game, NY Life scored 11 runs in the fifth inning to come from behind and defeat Thorne's, 12-5.

Dave Walker drove in two runs with a double, followed by a single by Pete Soderman. Walker and Soderman each drove in two more runs with singles before the inning was over.

Walks and singles by Dave Shillaber and Larry Howell had staked Thorne's to an early 4-1 lead. Mike Boonin got the win, Andy Alexander took the loss.

LUCAR UNBEATEN

In Babe Ruth League, Will's Shell and Harbort Air Freight split two games last Monday and Tuesday to open another week in the West Windsor Babe Ruth League. On Monday, Harbort picked up a 4-2 win behind the pitching of Dan Tatum, a player not picked by any team when the season began.

Harbort chose Tatum to replace a player who left town at mid-season. Tatum's brother, Marty, was the losing pitcher for Will's despite allowing only two hits. Most of Harbort's runs came on walks.

A day later, the situation was reversed as Will's beat Harbort, 11-1. Will's pitcher, Rick Malacrea, went six innings to gain the win. Harbort errors accounted for most of the winners' runs.

In Will's other game, Mike Shadow pitched it to a 16-1 win over the Lions Club. Shadow gave up only two hits, while Lions' pitchers allowed 21 walks accounting for most of Will's runs.

The Lions also lost to first-place Lucar Hardware in the final game of the week. Lucar roughed up losing pitcher Ted Servis for nine runs on seven hits, including three by Bill Schroeder. Lucar winner Joe Czeslowski followed last week's no-hitter with a two-hitter in this game to gain the decision.

This week the West Windsor All-Stars, managed by Gus Diezemann, are involved in a double-elimination tournament at Switlik Park in Yardville. West Windsor plays South Trenton in its first game on Wednesday at 8:30. Ted Servis is scheduled to start.

The standings:

	W.	L.	Pct.
Lucar	2	0	1.000
Will's	1	3	.750
Lions	1	3	.250
Harbort	1	3	.250

GOLF WINNERS LISTED

At Springdale. A net 76 for Mrs. Eric Leyton made her the medalist in the annual women's spring tournament at Springdale Golf Club. After several postponements caused by rain, the final matches were played and the winner was Mrs. John Stone, with Mrs. William Middlebrook the runner-up.

The first flight was won by Mrs. Ralph Allaire over Mrs. C. C. Bennett; the second flight by Mrs. Kline Fulmer over Mrs. Edgar Johnson, and the third flight, by Mrs. Kenneth Ostheim over Mrs. Nelson Case. In the consolation flight, Mrs. Donald Shaw was defeated by Mrs. Richard Schoch.

Men's Finals Postponed. The near-steady rainfall that made golf a somewhat soggy experience during much of June resulted in postponement of the final round of the men's tournament. Moore Gates, Jr. and Maury Mather will not play their 36-hole match for the club championship until September.

The only other match in the 1972 tournament still undecided involves Robert Lewis and Charlie Foster. They will meet in the Flight One final over 18 holes.

ALL TIED UP

In Summer Lacrosse, Green edged Red, 7-6, and Navy won by forfeit from Blue last week in the Princeton Summer Lacrosse League and as a result all four teams have a 1-1 record.

In Thursday's games at Marquand Park, Blue will oppose Red and Navy will meet Green. Starting time is 5:30.

Green and Red battled evenly in their match as each team scored twice in the first two periods and once in the third. Green's two goals in the final period to Red's one was the margin of victory.

Steve Delvecchio, three goals, and Jon Pettit, two goals, three assists, led Green. Jim Barnick and John Moore added single tallies. For Red, Chip Hall had three goals, while Gary Baschuk contributed two and Bob Cooper one.

Blue actually won its contest with Navy, 9-5, but had to forfeit when it was forced to use another team's player. Brad Fans and Pete McCrohan, each with three goals, and Stuart Fraser, two goals, paced Blue.

A pair of goals and an assist by Alan Fitzpatrick was the top individual performance for Navy. Steve Jacobson, Joe Rocco and Mark Tullis each scored single goals.

TWO MORE FOR IVY INN

Staats Wins Pair, Too. Ivy Inn won two more games last week in the Princeton Adult Softball League to claim first place with a 6-0 record. Staats Electric also won a pair but Teague & Hinds, previously tied with Ivy for the lead, dropped both of its games.

Ivy Inn took advantage of some sloppy play afield by Teague & Hinds to defeat its rival, 6-3, as the highly-touted Icemen defense suddenly fell apart. Earlier, Ivy defeated Princeton Athletic Club, 5-3, when it scored two runs in the fifth inning. The victors had scored three runs in the first behind the hitting of Doug Watson, Tony Perone and Dave Britton.

Staats found its batting eye as the Electricians walloped Andy's Tavern, 14-1, and defeated Nassau Conover, 9-5. Dave Drake, Bill Staats, Joe Milchanaski and Chuck Wareski all batted over .500 for the week. Staats banged out a total of 36 hits in the two games.

Earlier, Teague and Hinds lost a see-saw slugfest to Nassau Conover, 11-10. The Icemen scored five in the fourth to overcome a 3-0 Conover lead but the Motormen came right back with five of their own to regain the lead.

A leadoff triple, walk and singles by Ray Cranston and Francis Brooks carried Teague's to a 9-8 lead, but again, hits by Bruce Sandvick and Tom Brophy tied it. In the final inning, Nassau Conover bunched four hits for two runs to go ahead 11-9.

In its last chance, Teague's almost pulled it out. Hits by George McVaugh, Bob Bartlett and Danny Allegre produced one run, but Joe Watts flied out to end it, stranding three.

In another game, Harrison Athletic Club jumped to a 6-0 lead after four innings and went on to defeat Andy's Tavern, 8-5.

ETS, FORRESTAL TIED

For BSL East Lead. Educational Testing Service and Forrestal are back in a tie for first place in the eastern division of the Business Softball League, while McGraw-Hill remains all alone in the top spot in the west.

Forrestal, which had led ETS by one game, dropped a 9-2 decision to McGraw-Hill last week, while ETS nipped ERC, 6-5. In games two weeks ago, Forrestal defeated Firmenich, 8-3, and ETS walloped RCA A, 15-5, scoring in every inning but the last.

RCA A, which trails ETS and Forrestal by a game, bounced back the following week to crush Firmenich, 20-4, led by Tom Ward's five for five.

McGraw-Hill's other win came over Shearer Tree, 13-2. FMC hung in two games behind McGraw-Hill with a pair of victories, 15-1, over Cyanamid, and 21-1 over GFDL.

In other games, ERC nipped NAPL, 13-12, Shearer Tree outlasted Cities Service, 11-10 in a nine-inning game, after scoring four in the seventh to tie, RCA B beat GFDL, 10-9, after losing the week before to Cyanamid, 11-1; and Hopewell TV won a pair, 14-3, over Cities Service and 9-7 over NAPLC.

Future West Windsor Need: 13 More Schools

Two more elementary schools and two more middle schools will have to be built in the West Windsor-Plainsboro school district in the next nine years — by 1981 — warns a report submitted to the school board last week by the board's site and facilities planning committee.

The district now has slightly more than 2,000 children of school age. The committee estimates 13,500 children as the "ultimate enrollment potential."

To accommodate those 13,500, West Windsor-Plainsboro will eventually need 11 elementary schools (kindergarten through eighth grade) and two high schools. At present, the district has only three schools, all in the kindergarten - eighth grade level. A high school is under construction.

The planning committee urged the school board to line up the required 13 new sites immediately and submit them to the planning boards of both West Windsor and Plainsboro Township this fall. The municipal planners could then designate all sites on their master plans and zoning maps.

The school board should set up a plan within the next year for buying school sites that will be needed by 1981, the committee recommended. These sites are:

— Two 16-acre elementary school sites in West Windsor.

— Two 29-acre middle school sites, one in West Windsor and one in Plainsboro.

— Lincoln Properties, the company that is developing land in Plainsboro for an eventual 5,000 families, has already provided for a school site, but it has never been pinpointed. Its exact location should be determined in the next two years, in cooperation with Lincoln Properties, the committee recommended.

Long - Range. For the district's needs after 1981, the board should designate the following sites, no later than this fall:

— Six 16-acre elementary school sites in addition to the two that will be needed by 1981. Of the six, four would be in West Windsor and two in Plainsboro, not including the Lincoln Properties site.

— Two more 29-acre middle school sites, one in West Windsor and one in Plainsboro.

— One 48-acre high school site, north of Hightstown Road. The sites and planning com-

How to Leave PHS

West Windsor - Plainsboro's 500 — plus high school students now attend Princeton High and the WWP district pays $1,440 tuition for each student. All these students will start at Princeton High this September.

WWP plans to move its seventh and eighth-graders out of the Dutch Neck School whenever the new WWP high school building is finished, perhaps at mid-semester in January.

Next September, in 1973, boys and girls now about to start ninth grade will enter the new high school as its first tenth-grade class, and ultimately, its first graduating class. Upcoming seventh-graders will enter the new high school at that time, also.

Eleventh and 12th grades will be phased into the new school at the beginning of each school year, one grade at a time until no more remain at Princeton High.

PRINCETON TAXPAYERS' COMMITTEE

Time for a Change...

Township Hall was packed with taxpayers the night of June 26th. Silence greeted the remarks of those who came to speak against Mr. Kopp's apartment project. However, applause — and fervent — welcomed the following statement: "too many people who have lived and worked here for years want to move into something smaller" (and can't find an apartment). "What are we going to do with these people? Are we going to tell them that they either have to own a house, not make enough money, or move? I think we must remember these people?"

We interpret that applause to mean that the taxpayers in Princeton want a change. And we offer a change — we suggest that our "hidden gold mine" be worked, that 400 acres of our high, wooded (but very idle) land be developed. We need apartments. And we need the $2,000,000 in taxes which apartments could produce.

Obituaries

Henry A. Schultz, whose boundless enthusiasm for life despite blindness during the past 25 years eminently qualified him for his role as Princeton's Santa Claus, died July 1 in Donnelly Hospital, Trenton.

Born in Cincinnati, Ohio, Mr. Schultz was 86. Before moving to a nursing home in Hopewell and then to Donnelly Hospital, he had lived here at 9 Lincoln Court.

It was in 1948, two years after he had come to Princeton to work briefly at the Princeton Inn, that Mr. Schultz was browsing one day at the Better Mousetrap, a shop at 164 Nassau Street which included among its varied merchandise numerous toys and novelties for children. Although a childless widower, he spoke with the proprietors, Mrs. Karl Light and Mrs. Minot Morgan, Jr., of his love for children.

The time was late fall, and among the three of them, the idea evolved that in the days before Christmas, the Little People of Princeton should have an opportunity to talk to Santa Claus. With TOWN TOPICS' help, Mr. Schultz was shortly installed in a vacant office in the building, his answering hours were announced and an invitation extended to children to call the North Pole.

Quickly the spirit of the simply-conceived plan caught on. Dial telephones were not yet on the scene, and operators at the Princeton Bell Telephone office readily took a hand in "wait-listing" calls as the busy signals began to mount.

Word Spreads. Each year that Santa returned to his Toy Shop to receive calls, word of his presence spread to other towns, and Mr. Schultz took a keen interest in asking many of those who called him where they lived. A day's "work" often put him in touch with young residents of a dozen communities in central New Jersey, eastern Pennsylvania and occasional calls from 50 miles or more away from Princeton.

At no time was "Project Santa Claus" a commercial venture. Mr. Schultz was asked never to mention The Better Mousetrap as a source of toys, and his only thought each December was to personify the Christmas legend for the young, and to suggest, with a magic touch far exceeding that of parental power, that good behavior could bring its own rewards.

Despite his advancing years, patience was one of Mr. Schultz' primary qualities. While at first two or three hours a day, five days a week sufficed to answer many calls, he soon was adamant in his belief that he should continue to answer the telephone into the early evening.

"They'll be asking about talking to me, and I want to be there when they call," was his reply to those who felt he

Henry Schultz on Christmas

Because of the wide appeal of a lonely man seeking to bring happiness to others, Henry Schultz was the subject of a number of newspaper and magazine articles. In one of them, he was quoted this way about "Project Santa Claus":

"It's what I live for each year. It's a feeling of well-being, knowing that I'm doing something worthwhile. When December comes, the world changes around me.

"You feel it in the air, everybody is thinking Christmas thoughts, the good season is here again. For me, it's something special. I don't know how to say it . . . I guess the best word is 'ecstasy.'" might be under undue strain. For a number of years, he was happily occupied seven days a week.

The Cane Led the Way. For many years, Mr. Schultz walked daily each December from his home on Vandeventer Avenue, and later Lincoln Court, to the Morgan home at 36 Mercer Street. Occasionally, a guiding hand would help him at busy intersections, but he knew the way unerringly, and was never late.

Once in a while, there were complications. Despite publication of the answering hours, the Morgan phone often rang in his absence, but the callers were told when to try again.

One year, a young boy apparently old enough to jot down Santa's number decided he'd get in a few extra Christmas wishes while his parents were not listening. Shortly after 6 a.m. on a bitterly cold December morning, the Morgan phone began to ring. Certain it was an emergency, Mr. Morgan rose and answered.

There is a question whether the precocious caller still believed in Santa Claus, but for a short time about then, Mr. Morgan has admitted, he did not.

Merchants Contribute. Aware of Mr. Schultz's low income, merchants throughout town annually contributed to his future welfare each Christmas. When he finally had to leave Princeton, and "Project Santa Claus" came to an end after nearly a quarter century, appreciative Princetonians still helped him meet his living expenses.

Contributions made by friends last June to the Princeton Unit of Recording for the Blind in Mr. Schultz's name enabled the organization to build another recording booth.

The booth has been completed and will have a plaque honoring the memory of Mr. Schultz.

Mr. Schultz was a member of the Princeton Methodist Church and of the Democratic Club of Princeton. He also belonged to the Happy Hour Club of Trenton.

Husband of the late Mary Anna Olsen Schultz, he has no known survivors.

The service was scheduled to be held this Wednesday at 2 at the Kimble Funeral Home, the Rev. Ronald Dyson officiating. Burial will be in Princeton Cemetery.

Chester H. Cleaver, 87, of Asbury Park, a former resident of Princeton, died July 3 at the Foothill Acres Nursing Home.

A native of New Jersey, Mr. Cleaver had lived here before moving to Asbury Park 50 years ago. He was associated with the Buckeye Pipeline Co. of New York for 44 years, serving as treasurer from 1920 until his retirement in 1945.

Survivors include his wife, Mrs. Mildred Day Cleaver; two sons, John P. of Rosedale Lane and William P. of Cranford; and four grandchildren. A private service was held, with arrangements made by the Mather Funeral Home.

Mrs. Edith B. Filion of Patton Avenue died June 17 in Princeton Medical Center. She was employed by Princeton Theological Seminary.

Born in Washington, Mrs. Filion lived here for four years. She was a member of All Saints' Episcopal Church.

Surviving are a son, Ross D. L. Filion of Princeton; a daughter, Mrs. Edith St. I. Murray of Syracuse, N. Y.; two grandchildren; her moth-

News Of The CHURCHES

RALPH BLOOM ELECTED

By Presbyterian Unit. Princeton Presbyterian Commission has named Ralph Bloom Jr. of St. Andrew's as chairman. Mrs. W. Frederick Stohlman of First Church will serve as secretary.

The Presbyterian Commission consists of ministers and laymen representing Witherspoon Street, St. Andrew's and First Presbyterian Church. It coordinates and supervises the street ministry of the Rev. William Kight.

Many members of the churches serve on the five task forces that reinforce Mr. Kight's work. Twenty persons have completed a training session at Yardville and have recently been approved for the visitation force to visit prisoners. Miss Frances Clark is the unit's chairman.

Other task forces run the Hot Line, work on legislative and judicial questions relating to drug abuse and other problems, meet emergency needs for food, clothing and shelter, and work towards establishing a residential youth center.

The Presbyterian Commission also oversees the work of the Rev. Dr. William LeG. Tucker, pastor emeritus of St. Andrew's, who, as minister of outreach, is in touch with new residents in the larger Princeton Community.

The Commission brings the three congregations together in a number of ways, including the union summer services, which this week will be held at 10 a.m. in First Presbyterian.

An outdoor service will be held at 8:30 a.m. in an open area of historic Princeton Cemetery every Sunday this month, Rev. Dr. George E.

er, Mrs. Della Browning, and a sister, Mrs. Jane Beckwith of Pride Crossing, Mass., and a brother, R. McKim Browning of Europe.

A memorial service was held in All Saints' Church.

Mrs. Julia Mabel Sandifer, 65, of 175 John Street, died July 1 in Princeton Hospital. A native of North Carolina, she had lived in Princeton for the past 37 years and was employed as a seamstress at the Nassau Inn.

Mrs. Sandifer was a member of the Eastern Star, Aaron Chapter No. 8, and of the First Baptist Church. She belonged to the church's usher board.

Her husband, Buster, and a brother, Chester Hairston of Princeton, survive. The funeral was held at the First Baptist Church, the Rev. Edward Smith officiating. Burial was in Princeton Cemetery.

Sweazey, professor of homiletics at Princeton Seminary, will preach.

A BIT OF NEW ENGLAND

This beautiful cedar clapboard colonial captures the atmosphere of New England in a beautiful wooded setting. From the dignified slate foyer to the cherry paneled family room, you can feel a house of true quality, while the living room with fireplace and extra special eat-in kitchen give a sense of comfort rather than formality. A master suite and three more comfortable bedrooms mean ample accommodation for almost any family. Centrally air conditioned and available before school starts in September. $68,000

SOMETHING IMPRESSIVE

This better than new cedar shake Colonial is situated near Princeton in a spot that's absolutely strategic for New York commuting (only 55 minutes). One word describes it: "Plush." The living room with fireplace, dining room, and stairs are all covered by a beautiful pale blue Karastan carpeting while the foyer has been dignified with solid slate. The family room is done in warm shag and the kitchen can accommodate a truly large family. The master suite and three other large bedrooms are nicely decorated and well proportioned.
The friendly neighborhood and excellent school system of West Windsor make this a very inviting offer at $58,500

FINDERS KEEPERS

This solid brick rancher is located on a pretty corner lot not two miles beyond the edge of Princeton's Western Section. The huge living room has a massive stone fireplace while the dining room is large enough for dinner parties. At present, there are two large bedrooms and one and a half baths, all of which can be easily expanded. The huge patio terrace behind the living room is absolutely great for outdoor entertaining.
The full basement is a must for expansion as a family room and workshop. $43,500

LIVE IN A WATER GARDEN

It was a wonderful spot to build a house in the mid-19th century: a hillside well back from the road at the edge of the deep, cool woods and just at the point where an ever-flowing stream springs crystal clear from the depths. To its 20th century owner, the site presented an opportunity to develop a garden of delights without parallel in our experience. From the lofty, glass walled garden room with its brick hearth and hand-hewn beams and from the adjoining brick terrace, the effect is stunning: water seems to bubble and dance from everywhere artfully channeled from the pond above the house through the rocks and plantings to the stone walled swimming pool below. If you can tear yourself away, you'll find perfection throughout the main house with its el-shaped living-dining room, tiny study, kitchen, 3 bedrooms and 1½ baths. Across the upper garden a brand new tenant house awaits older children, guests, help or whatever. Here are, living room, dining room, modern kitchen, 4 bedrooms and 2 baths arranged to suit so many purposes. The garage will accommodate 3 cars and a tractor. On over 10 acres near Wall Street commuting and completely unique at $178,500.

YOU WOULDN'T THINK OF WASHING A FINE FUR COAT IN WATER, instead you get it dry cleaned in special solvents. Water hurts wood too, so when you want the old finish cleaned off furniture come to THE WOOD SHEO. Our gentle Chem-Clean process uses no water, steam heat, caustics or bleaches—just organic solvents much like a dry cleaner's. This means that fine woods, veneer, inlay, cane and rush can be stripped with safety. Glue stays tight, grain doesn't lift, patina undamaged. ## A GARDEN ROOM IN A GARDEN SPOT

This high-ceilinged, glass-walled 20x20 solarium, with its floor of radiantly heated flagstone, will turn next winter into spring when you fill it with camellias and ferns and white wicker furniture. And in summer turn on the air conditioning or open the louvered side walls and transfer it into an airy screened porch. In any season, it's one of the chief year-round delights of this newly available Western Township one-story. On a lovely high acre and a quarter, with living and dining rooms, family room, three bedrooms, study, kitchen, and two baths, it is offered for the first time at $79,000

PRINCETON BOROUGH. $56,500

An unusually versatile house on a small and easily maintained lot within walking distance of all things town and gown. All on one floor are: living room, dining room with door to an elevated deck, kitchen, three bedrooms, and bath. On a lower level (not a basement!), there is an almost separate apartment of: study with fireplace, bedroom, bath, utility room, and huge all-purpose room. Detached two-car garage. A lot of space for the money.

OVERLOOKING THE POND IN THE MEADOW

Recently we've been fortunate in having several interesting houses to offer in the enchanting village of Griggstown, and all but one have been snapped up. We are surprised still to be able to tell you about this crisp new Colonial on Canal Road. On nearly two acres, flanked by lovely farm estates, its center hall opens to a pair of living rooms, one with fireplace. The dining room has French doors to an elevated deck, with a bucolic view of water, woods, and meadow. There's a big country kitchen, laundry-mud room, and full bath. Upstairs, four bedrooms and two more baths. Centrally air-conditioned. Basement and two-car garage. A fine problem-free investment at $65,000.

RENTALS

We have several excellent houses in various price ranges both town and country, furnished and unfurnished. From $285 to $650 per month.

A WESTERN TOWNSHIP BUILDING LOT THAT'S REALLY FOR SALE

No fooling, these owners have pressing reasons for wanting to sell their two choice acres, so now's the moment to make them an offer. Situated at the foot of a no traffic cul-de-sac, it is heavily wooded, studded with picturesque boulders and served by all public utilities. A perfect spot for a dramatic contemporary. Asking $34,500
